CONTENTS

Introduction

THE granting of fellowships has always been one of the primary interests of The Rockefeller Foundation Some idea of the extent of the Foundation s fellowship program and of the positions now held by the fellows themselves can be gained from the present listing of men and women who at some time in the past 35 years held Foundation fellowships The program began during the First World War with a few appointments and grew gradually so that by 1925 several hundred fellowships were being awarded each year By now well over 6,000 individuals from some 75 countries have held fellowships awarded and administered by The Rockefeller Foundation, the amount expended for this purpose up to the end of 1950 was roughly $19,000,000 In addition, the Foundation has made grants to other organizations for their own fellowship programs, the amount of money expended for that purpose was about $9,500,000

The basic principle on which the fellowship program in all its phases has been built is a simple one It is the conviction that individuals can and should be developed for future leadership and creative achievement in important fields of endeavor Thus the functions of the Rockefeller Foundation fellowship program have been to select individuals of outstanding promise in fields of interest defined by the general program of the Foundation, and to help prepare these individuals to make significant contributions to research and teaching or public service in the future

From the beginning the fellowship program has been conducted as an international exchange with no bar to the crossing of racial or national boundaries Each fellow has had the advice of Foundation officers in selecting the place and course of study most advantageous to his own growth and to his prospects of future work As a general rule, this has led to travel and study outside his own country By enabling men and women from many parts of the world to study at the best places for them anywhere in the world, the Foundation gave them an opportunity to widen their horizons and to make valuable new ties which at the same time could raise the level of international cooperation and understanding

To obtain assurance of the probable future usefulness of fellowship study and experience, appointments have normally been limited to candidates with an appreciable degree of achievement to their credit and with posts to which they will return upon completion of their fellowships In most instances the candidate already holds an appointment on a university faculty or on the staff of a research institute or government department He must have the sponsorship of his institution, and applications are usually submitted through the institution

The Rockefeller Foundation for many years has operated through five divisions These divisions and the number of fellowships awarded by each through 1950 were

International Health Division	2,566
Medical Sciences	1,263
Natural Sciences	1,219
Social Sciences	823
Humanities	471
TOTAL	6,342

The International Health Division, whose chief interest was public health, early set the pattern for postdoctoral training in this field To carry out the disease control campaigns which this division inaugurated, there were needed medical men and women, nurses and engineers with special training in public health Some of the earliest Rockefeller Foundation fellowships were given to doctors for study in schools of hygiene and public health the schools themselves being in many cases established and financially aided by The Rockefeller Foundation Stress was put also on raising the standards of public health nursing Of the 2,566 fellowships in the public health field, 689 went to nurses

In the Medical Sciences there was from the start an insistent emphasis on the promotion of research Also present has been the idea of multiplying centers from which medical skill acquired by physicians through their fellowship training under famous medical specialists could radiate into new areas In medicine, as in public health, former fellows in many instances qualified for leading roles in the creation of strong outposts in the battle against disease

In the Natural Sciences high scientific criteria for selecting fellows have been rigorously applied The goal of providing outstanding leaders in research and in teaching has always been kept in sight Persistent effort, too, has been made to keep this program broadly international in scope Stress in the last 20 years has been on the biological rather than the physical sciences, and there has been a close coordination with Foundation programs in other divisions

The fellowship program in the Social Sciences began at an early date to furnish young men and women with an opportunity to familiarize themselves with trends in the social sciences in countries other than their own Here the emphasis has been on the development of future key men as well as on the promotion of specific research interests Social Sciences fellowship grants have been made not only to persons holding positions in universities or other research institutions, but also to those in government offices, administrative bureaus and social agencies

The fellowship awards in the Humanities division of the Foundation have been in a wide variety of fields As objectives in the Humanities have changed over the years attention to fellowships in different fields has correspondingly increased or declined There has been for example, continuing interest in drama and Far Eastern studies, and in those fields fellowships have been awarded each year for the last 18 years On the other hand, development of library science in certain countries, for which fellowships were awarded over a ten year period is no longer of primary concern to the Humanities division In general, Humanities fellowships reflect the interests of the general program of the division, which no doubt will continue to change from time to time in the future

Fellowships are uncontrolled experiments in the sense that the kind of record that might have been established without the fellowship remains unknown Since the aim initially is to choose outstanding individuals it is safe to assume that many of these young persons would have had distinguished careers even without the help of a fellowship It would therefore be wholly unwarranted to credit to the fellowship itself the proud record made by scores upon scores of Rockefeller Foundation fellows Fellowship holders themselves affirm however, that the fellowship experience, wisely planned and coming at a crucial developmental juncture, can contribute significantly to future achievement

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Scope of Directory

In the present volume, containing information on 6 342 fellowships, are listed the names of individuals who have held fellowships financed from Foundation funds, administered by the Foundation and awarded either by the Foundation itself or by the British Medical Research Council, the National Health and Medical Research Council of Australia and the Forschungsgemeinschaft (formerly known as the Notgemeinschaft der Deutschen Wissenschaften) Information on these latter organizations and on some of the early Rockefeller boards and divisions which participated in the awarding of fellowships is given on page xv

No attempt was made to include recipients of fellowships granted and administered out of Foundation funds by other specialized agencies which operate their own fellowship programs * (Nor are there included fellows appointed by universities and research institutes out of general funds provided by the Foundation, because such fellowships were incidental to the purpose of the programs receiving support) Some of these agencies were

- American Council of Learned Societies, Washington, D C
- American School of Classical Studies, Athens Greece
- Australian National Research Council
- Authors League of America
- Brown University Providence, R I (fellowships in applied mathematics)
- Canadian Social Science Research Council Montreal
- Columbia University New York (special fellowships at Russian Institute)
- Hungarian Scholarship Council
- National Committee for Mental Hygiene
- National Research Council Washington D C
- National Theatre Conference
- New York University (fellowships in applied mathematics)
- Peiping Union Medical College China
- Social Science Research Council New York
- United Nations Economic Commission for Europe

The main body of this directory contains alphabetical entries for 5 026 individuals The names are then regrouped in a roster, according to latest country of residence and field of interest Tables I and II consist of numerical groupings by year, field and country Tables III and IV summarize the total Foundation expenditures for direct awards and for awards through other agencies (including the British Medical Research Council the National Health and Medical Research Council of Australia and the Forschungsgemeinschaft) In casting up the total number of fellowships the term fellowship is defined as a single appointment If a fellow received two or more appointments all are listed in his entry and all counted in the tables

Every effort was made to establish contact by correspondence with all the fellows so that the data concerning them might be verified It cannot be claimed however that either the listings or the data are in every sense complete The world wars of this century have seriously disrupted the smooth flow of many careers and owing to present unsettled conditions it has not been possible to list several hundred Foundation fellows by name These men and women however, are counted in the tables A number of those whose names are omitted held fellowships awarded under the China Medical Board (formerly a division of the Foundation) and the China Program

Recipients of grants in aid travel grants and other awards not classified as fellowships are not included in this directory Fellowships awarded which did not become active or which were active for only a short period of time are also omitted

Key to Main Entries

Entries in the main body of this directory contain the following information

(1) Name (2) Country of Origin (3) Date of Birth (4) Highest Degree (5) Institution Awarding Degree (6) Date of Degree (7) Major Field (8) Fellowship-Awarding Agency or Division (9) Institution with Which Fellow was Affiliated at Appointment (10) Principal Countries of Fellowship Study (11) Dates of Fellowship (12) Address Date of Address and Current Position

TYPICAL ENTRY

Adams Raymond DeLacy (U.S.A.) b 1911 M D Duke Univ 1936 Psychiatry and Psychology (MS) Appointed from Duke Univ Place of Study U.S.A 1938–41 Address (1950) Asst Prof of Neurol Harvard Univ Med School Boston 15 Mass

With regard to certain of these items the following should be noted

(1) Since the majority of the fellows had an opportunity to correct the listing and alphabetizing of their names it may be assumed that most of the entries stand as approved by the fellows themselves

Women who married following their fellowships appear under their married names with cross references from their maiden names A similar procedure was followed in the case of surnames changed subsequent to the fellowship

Spanish and Portuguese names with prefixes have been entered under the part of the name following the prefix French Italian German Dutch and English names are entered under the prefix Exceptions are based on personal preference of fellows

(2) Country of origin designates the country in which the fellow maintained residence at the time of his appointment and to which he intended to return to pursue his career Country of origin is not necessarily either the country of birth or the country of citizenship

(4) Highest degree represents highest academic or professional degree at the time the fellowship was granted Honorary degrees are not listed For nurses both liberal arts and nursing degrees are listed

(7) In many cases the major field indicates the broad field of interest of the fellow rather than his specialty. For purposes of publication, each of the five divisions of the Foundation worked out a set of general classifications to represent the numerous specialized fields of interest. For Humanities fellows, present field of interest is also given, since their fields often changed.

(9) Institution with which fellow was affiliated is not necessarily the one that sponsored his fellowship application

(12) Address generally lists only one address and one title for each fellow. If the last known address had no significance for present mailing purposes it is noted as "not definitely ascertained."

(2), (5), (9), (10) If the name of an institution or a place has changed since the awarding of a fellowship, the general policy is to list the former name, with the new one in parentheses

According to

LATEST COUNTRY OF RESIDENCE

FIELD OF INTEREST

The following roster lists alphabetically, by country of latest residence and field of interest, the names of all Rockefeller Foundation fellows for whom entries appear in the main portion of this directory, with the exception of the few persons who have requested that their addresses not be indicated in any way

Where a fellow has held either one appointment covering two fields or two appointments in two different fields, he is listed under both fields

When an address prior to 1950 is used in determining the latest country of residence, the number [1] appears following the fellow's name

The number [2] has been placed after a name to indicate that although the latest country of residence has not been definitely ascertained, there is good reason to believe that the fellow is currently residing in the country under which he is listed

In the case of deceased fellows, whose names are followed by a dagger (†), the listing indicates the country of residence at the time of death
